

Education Reform: Responding as a group of children

This consultation is about school and learning. It is for Professor Ken Muir who is looking into how education works in Scotland. It is for use with children of primary school age.

This tool will help a group of children to talk about and record their views about school and learning. It is likely the children will be middle to upper primary, but you may find some statements you can engage younger children in too. We are asking the adult facilitator to either write responses or make sure children do capture their views as feedback to us. You need to print the statements and final sheet about the children and send it back by post to the address below.

There are 14 statements. We want your group to discuss as many of the statements that they want to. You don't have to do them all, but the more you do the more we find out.

After discussing the statement with the group, use the space to tell us how many children agreed/disagreed with the statement and then make a note of some of the children's reasons for their choices. We want you to write down some quotes that help us understand how children feel about the statement. There are no right or wrong answers, it's what the children think that matters.

This consultation is being managed by Scottish Youth Parliament, Children's Parliament, and Together.
